

GET BETTER MEN FOR MORE MONEY

Superintendent Joyner Gives Advice to New Boards of Education.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
RALEIGH, N. C., June 19.—In a special letter of advice being sent out to the new county boards of education who take up their duties July 1, State Superintendent of Public Instruction J. B. Joyner urges special care in the selection of county superintendents of public schools, advising that salaries be made as high as the school fund will admit, but that the members of the board make sure that they are getting "more man and more time for more money." He pronounces the office of county superintendent the most important in the county, and says that no man should be elected to fill it who has not experience and professional qualifications. It should not, he says, be given to some one who will use it as a side issue to supplement his salary. He urges, too, men of intelligence and good business qualifications for district committees, who will exercise care in the selection of teachers. He tells the new board that, "in order to secure the co-operation of all, no necessary for the success of the schools, I strongly advise the selection of properly qualified Republicans as well as Democrats, as school committees. The schools should be held above partisan politics. This plan of selecting committees without regard to politics has worked successfully in many counties, and should be observed as far as possible in every county."

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., June 19.—At their recent meeting the trustees of Randolph-Macon College, upon recommendation of the college faculty, conferred upon Dr. James Morris Page, dean of the University of Virginia, the honorary degree of LL. D. The action of both the faculty and the board was unanimous.
In the last fifteen years this degree has been conferred only three times—once upon Dr. Walter H. Page, editor of the World's Work; once upon former President John A. Kern, author of a number of important works, and now upon Dr. Page.
About July 10 Dr. Page will sail for Europe to be the representative of the University of Virginia at the great five-hundredth year jubilee of the University of Leipzig. Dean Page graduated with the degree of doctor of philosophy at the University of Leipzig in December, 1887.

What the South Offers To Its College-Bred Men

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BLACKSBURG, VA., June 19.—The annual address before the graduating class at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute was delivered by Congressman Carter Glass, of Lynchburg, in whose district this institution is located. Mr. Glass at the opening of his remarks alluded to the recent newspaper report concerning an alleged lack of interest in the agricultural department of the college, and expressed the very earnest hope that the publication in Virginia did not accurately portray the facts. In this connection he quoted to the young men present a striking passage from a memorable deliverance by ex-President Roosevelt on the life of the farmer, as follows:

"I warn my countrymen that the great recent progress made in city life is not the full measure of our civilization for our civilization rests at bottom on the wholesomeness, the attractiveness and the completeness as well as the prosperity of life in the country. The men and women on the farms stand for what is fundamentally best and most needed in our American life. Upon the development of country life rests ultimately our ability, by methods of farming requiring the highest intelligence, to continue to feed and clothe the hungry nations, to supply the city with fresh blood, clean bodies and clear brains that can endure the terrible strain of modern life; we need the development of men in the open country, who will be in the future, as in the past, the stay and strength of the nation in time of war, and its guiding and controlling spirit in time of peace."

Mr. Glass pointed his hearers to the remarkable development of the resources of the South, which, he said, had barely begun, and in which the energies of his young hearers would find the most promising field both for reputation and material profits. Mr. Glass referred to a "thrilling and inspiring recital" which he recently heard delivered in the Senate chamber by Senator Aldrich, in the course of which that Senator in the most eloquent way apostrophized the wonderful future of the South, especially in the direction of the cotton industry, which industry, Mr. Aldrich declared, the South would practically monopolize within the next generation.

A Neglected Opportunity.
Mr. Glass, in pointing out the resources of the South in general and of Virginia in particular, adverted to the enormous profits derived in other sections of the country from the dairy industry, and added to figures and other statistics to show how unpardonably this great industry had been neglected in the South, and how by proper efforts it might be built up. From this point in his address Mr. Glass proceeded to show how the graduates of the Virginia Polytechnic Institute might do a great deal in promoting a new era in this respect in Virginia and in other Southern States. After briefly calling attention to the remarkable industrial and agricultural resources of the South, Mr. Glass showed what a remarkable field was opened up to

Hot Springs Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
HOT SPRINGS, VA., June 19.—The good house count at the Homestead, and nearly all the cottages on either side of the mountain, are filled with guests, and a constantly increasing influx of arrivals every day, the week has been one of almost incessant gaiety.
Nearly all the cottages are entertaining friends, and features of the week's entertainments include a large and sumptuous supper at Bath Alum and Healing Springs, which are now open for the season.
Mr. and Mrs. Seth Barton French, who are still at Barton Lodge, are entertaining several dinner companies throughout the week. On Monday evening, Mr. and Mrs. French entertained a company of friends at their home, in compliment to Lady Hatfield, of London, the sister of Attorney-General George W.ickersham, who, with her mother, Mrs. Wickersham, is spending the season at the Homestead. Invited to meet Lady Hatfield were Dr. John Hamilton Gourlie, who will leave in several weeks for a short visit abroad, entertained at a smart dinner at the Homestead, and Mrs. Mary Stearns, who occupied Villa during Mr. Gourlie's absence abroad. Mrs. Stearns entertained a party of friends at her home, on the Oaks on Monday afternoon, the company including Miss Clara French, Miss Helen Fluke and the Misses Stearns.
General and Mrs. Edward P. Meany, of the Stearns, arrived at the Homestead on Monday morning, and will occupy one of the cottages until the middle of the month. They will entertain extensively during their stay, and will be accompanied by their friends throughout the summer. They are accompanied by their son, Shannon L. Meany.
George Cole Scott, of Richmond, has joined Mrs. Scott for the summer. They are at the Homestead, occupying one of the cottages, and will remain until November.
The Misses George and Mrs. M. A. Carson intended to go abroad, but did not sail, and decided to return here. They will be joined by friends from the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, who arrived here on Monday, and will remain here for the week-end here, and was extensively entertained, one of the smart affairs in his honor, having been a dinner given by former Governor and Mrs. William A. McCorkle, at the Homestead on Saturday evening.
Miss Bourne, of New York, has arrived for the season, and will be joined by her brother, Senator Jonathan Bourne, Jr., when Congress adjourns.
Horatio Casassa, of Mexico City, president of the International Hotel, Mexico City, arrived at the Springs on Monday morning, in the private car Sabina, with a party including his wife, Miss Margaret Casassa, and Sam Tate, of New York. They will remain here the greater portion of the summer, making side trips to nearby points of interest.
Henry W. Anderson, of Richmond, and Mrs. Robert B. Ford, of the same city, expected here to-night, and on Monday will start on an automobile trip through the Valley of Virginia, and will be accompanied in an automobile to Lady Hatfield and Mrs. Frank S. Tainter, of Fairfax Hill, N. J., who will be in the party.
One of the prettiest teas of the season was given by Mrs. Edgar A. Pole, at the Bath Alum Hotel, on Tuesday afternoon. The guests included Mrs. Bland Addison, Mrs. Pole's cousin, who was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Frank Toppin, while Mr. Pole and Miss Bessie Stearns presided in the breakfast-room, which was effectively decorated in rhododendron and mountain laurel.
Mr. Robert F. Manning entertained at a tea at Passer Farm on Tuesday in compliment to Mrs. Albert Fluke.

Bath Alum Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
BATH ALUM, MCLUNG, VA., June 19.—Bath Alum Hotel and cottages have opened for the season, and already have been considerably entertaining here. Mrs. A. H. Hoyer, who was the first person to register, entertained a party of friends at the hotel for a party of Boston and New York friends last week. Mr. and Mrs. Walter B. Devereaux, Jr., have given several luncheon parties here, and on Saturday afternoon Mrs. C. H. Brooks and Miss Mary Brooks entertained a large and sumptuous party which came over the mountain.
This has been the favorite resort of Presidents and Vice-Presidents for the past fifty years. Presidents Pierce and Fillmore having spent several seasons, while Robert E. Lee and the names of all the members of his family are subscribed to numerous registers used before and after the war, and on file in the attractive main office, which is a treasure trove for the guest who cares to delve into things historical.
Dr. Henry S. Pole, of Hot Springs, who owns the estate, has put it in the condition, and driving over good mountain roads and bridle paths are some of the attractions. Mountain trout are running high in the Copvaster River, and already some record catches have been made by some of those who have returned to Bath Alum for the summer.

Healing Springs Social News.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
HEALING SPRINGS, VA., June 19.—The Healing Springs Hotel opened most auspiciously on Tuesday, when Judge W. Howard McClinette entertained a large party of guests from "the Hot" at luncheon. After luncheon there was a bowling match, which was followed by tea served in the dining Japanese teatime at the clubhouse. The outlook here is for a big season, many of the cottages having already arrived to put their cottages in order.
Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Jacobs, of New York, entertained at luncheon at the hotel on Wednesday afternoon, and yesterday afternoon Miss Prudence Stearns gave a tea in the teatime at the hotel, and the young friends, following a backboard drive over from the Homestead.
Recent arrivals at the hotel are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lee Valentine and family, of Richmond; Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Withrow and family, of Charlottesville; Mr. and Mrs. M. P. Kelly, of Louisville; and Mrs. Henry S. Holmes, of Charlottesville, S. C., who will be joined by a party of friends from the city, and Mrs. Zobel, of New York, who was among the first to arrive.
